

Correction: Cascading consequences of armed conflict and famine on child health: a time for peace

---

Oberg C, Hodges HR, Masten A. Cascading consequences of armed conflict and famine on child health: a time for peace. BMJ Paediatr Open 2022;6:e001608. doi:10.1136/bmjpo-2022-001608

This article has been corrected since it was published online. The first sentence of the article has been changed from ‘Although armed conflicts originate in the adult world, their effects often are most harmful to the lives of children, constituting up to 90% of fatalities in 21st century wars.’ to ‘Although armed conflicts originate in the adult world, their effects often are most harmful to the lives of children in 21st century wars.’

Open access This is an open access article distributed in accordance with the Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial (CC BY-NC 4.0) license, which permits others to distribute, remix, adapt, build upon this work non-commercially, and license their derivative works on different terms, provided the original work is properly cited, appropriate credit is given, any changes made indicated, and the use is non-commercial. See: <http://creativecommons.org/licenses/by-nc/4.0/>.

© Author(s) (or their employer(s)) 2022. Re-use permitted under CC BY-NC. No commercial re-use. See rights and permissions. Published by BMJ.

BMJ Paediatrics Open 2022;6:e001608corr1. doi:10.1136/bmjpo-2022-001608corr1

